HD-1200 - BLUE/WHITE

The Zomo HD-1200 are professional, high quality stereo headphones with a cool design. The closed-cup design ensures that background noise is kept to a minimum thereby achieving a clear, true monitor sound. With their solid yet light design, the Zomo HD-1200 Headphones offer a comfortable monitoring experience, even during the longest performances. For easy and compact transportation the ear cups are both rotatable and retractable. This also allows for one ear monitoring. These high-end headphones offer a crystal clear, high level of sound that have an optimized kick-bass frequency response that only few other headphones can compare with. These make the Zomo Headphones the perfect headphones for Live performances, monitoring or studio use. The convenient one-sided spiral cable offers comfort combined with freedom of movement. Additionally, cable and jack connections can be exchanged easily. The high-end materials and drivers guarantee a long-lasting and professional sound experience, that you'll never want to do without again, once you have tried the HD-1200. The HD-1200 is an outstanding headphone that introduces a new-age of sound quality. The definitive between technology and design with a professional sound. Your ears will thank you!
